Community M. E. Revival Services To Be Continued

The congregation at the Community Methodist Church unanimously voted last night that the revival services which have been conducted at that church for the past two weeks be continued next week. A record week-night crowd attended the services last night. An excellent song service was rendered and everybody was in good spirits.

Mrs. C. J. Seymour and Mrs. Frank Seymour sang a duet. The number which they sang was "Old Rugged Cross" by special request. The subject of Rev. George W. Forman was "Profit and Loss" or what shall it profit a man, if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?

Emphasis was placed on values in the right place. Individuals were grouped into three classes—those who are selling out for money—those who are selling out for some particular sin and those who are selling out for pleasure. In conclusion it was shown that no one of these classes could equal or compare with the Christian life of service.

The topic of the sermon to be delivered at the Sunday morning service by Rev. Forman will be "The Call to Service" from the text "What is That in Thine Hand?" The subject for the Sunday evening sermon will be three questions answered—"Is It Well with Thee?" "Is It Well with Thine Husband?" "Is It Well with the Child?"

There will be special music at the evening revival service. Bert Sooble will sing, accompanied by W. W. Chapin at the piano.

THE CITY GONE WILD

Thomas Meighan, who has played in underworld stories before, but
has never had a crook vehicle
as powerful or vivid as "The City Gone Wild," Paramount's new
melodrama, which opened at the California Theatre yesterday.

Charles and Jules Furthman get
credit for this unusual
story of machine gun battles and
gang war, of politics and intrigue
of love and law and lust and duty. They have done nobly by Meighan, for it affords him opportunity for the most unusual characterization he has had in years. His career started in a crook play "The Miracle Man" and
he duplicates his earlier success
in this new vehicle.

Not that the two pictures are
alike for they are not. "The Miracle Man" was a tale of regeneration and sentiment. "The City Gone Wild" is a harder story, a more realistic one, one more in keeping with these headlong times
of metropolitan crime and its attendant misery.

Meighan plays a powerful criminal lawyer, powerful enough to bring a truce between the gangs
whose battle is shown as a brilliant opening sequence. Love of a woman makes him a prosecuting
attorney later in the story and the climax comes when he is faced
with a seemingly insoluble problem. He learns that the girl's father is the hidden leader of the underworld forces, and thus faces
the alternative of breaking his heart to the state, or joining the gangs and exposing her father.

It would seem fair to decide
the outcome about it represents a smashing climax.

James Cruze, who made "The
Covered Wagon" and "Old Iron-
sides" directed this new Meighan
picture, an undoubtedly his greatest achievement is largely responsible for its success. He has more than
directed it, for first-class assistance
at remarkable strength came Meighan's
leading woman, the new Helen Munday, whose name alone is a guarantee of success. Her brilliant, Louise Brooks is excellent
as the girl's sweetheart. Hers
was a difficult role as the hard-boiled underworld girl, but she did well in it. From Kohler, known as the wolf of the screen, is perhaps the most colorful of the whole supporting cast. In the role of the gang leader killed by police
after his shooting of Meighan's
best friend.

THE CITY GONE WILD

Thomas Meighan, who has
played in
underworld stories before, but
has never had a crook vehicle
as powerful or vivid as "The City
Gone Wild," Paramount's new
melodrama, which opened at the
California Theatre yesterday.

Charles and Jules Furthman get
credit for this unusual
story of machine gun battles and
gang war, of politics and intrigue
of love and law and lust and
duty. They have done nobly by Meighan, for it affords him opportunity for the most unusual
characterization he has had in
years. His career started in a crook play "The Miracle Man" and
he duplicates his earlier success
in this new vehicle.

Not that the two pictures are
alike for they are not. "The Miracle Man" was a tale of regeneration and sentiment. "The City
Gone Wild" is a harder story, a
more realistic one, one more in
keeping with these headlong times
of metropolitan crime and its attendant misery.

Meighan plays a powerful criminal lawyer, powerful enough to
bring a truce between the gangs
whose battle is shown as a brilliant opening sequence. Love of
a woman makes him a prosecuting
attorney later in the story and the
climax comes when he is faced
with a seemingly insoluble problem. He learns that the girl's
father is the hidden leader of the
underworld forces, and thus faces
the alternative of breaking his
heart to the state, or joining the
gangs and exposing her father.

It would seem fair to decide
the outcome about it represents a
smashing climax.

James Cruze, who made "The
Covered Wagon" and "Old Iron-
sides" directed this new Meighan
picture, an undoubtedly his greatest
achievement is largely responsible
for its success. He has more than
directed it, for first-class assistance
at remarkable strength came Meighan's
leading woman, the new Helen Munday, whose name alone is a
guarantee of success. Her brilliant, Louise Brooks is excellent
as the girl's sweetheart. Hers
was a difficult role as the hard-
boiled underworld girl, but she did
well in it. From Kohler, known
as the wolf of the screen, is
perhaps the most colorful of the whole supporting cast. In the role
of the gang leader killed by police
after his shooting of Meighan's
best friend.

School nurse says
all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene,
an experienced district nurse said:
"One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal discharges and habits should be encouraged.
But when necessary there is no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body.
Particularly with girls, there are times
when nujol should always be taken.
Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or anything."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling, because it is so pure and harmless. And works so quickly and thoroughly. Keep a bottle of Nujol. Every drug store has it.

FIGHT STARTED TO SAVE COAST SHIPPING LINES

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Another "last ditch" fight to prevent the sale by the shipping board of the three remaining government-owned cargo lines operating on the Pacific was launched in the Senate today by Senator Jones (R.) of Washington.

Jones introduced a resolution directing the board to cancel its proposed sale of the three lines to a single purchaser and to sell the lines separately instead.

The resolution set forth that the three lines now operate independently of each other, one serving California, another Oregon and the third Washington. The commercial and shipping interests of these states would be seriously impaired if the lines were consolidated under a single management, it said.

By selling the lines separately, Jones declared that private interests in each community would be given an opportunity to acquire the lines serving that territory.

At the same time, Rep. Will Wood (R.) of Indiana appealed to Congress to authorize financial assistance by the government to private ship building construction. He wanted the United States to lag behind in a modern merchant marine to meet foreign competition and that as a result American shippers are at the mercy of foreign ship lines.

"When we agreed to the terms of the Washington Arms Conference it was generally understood that our navy would be of the equivalent strength of Great Britain," he pointed out, continuing: "Now after five years we find ourselves considerably below the nation agreed upon, and from the standpoint of seapower still further outranked."

"We have sacrificed world naval supremacy and world maritime commercial supremacy and in addition through private loans our former allies have obtained $12,000,000,000, no small portion of which is obviously being used in the rebuilding of European navies, as well as merchant fleets."

Wood urged passage of his bill which would have the Federal government pay the difference in cost of building merchant ships in the United States and abroad to American shipbuilders. In return for this financial assistance, the private companies would guarantee to continue the ship in operation under the American flag for a certain period.

Miramar chapter of Eastern Star presented a program in Masonic temple last night, under the supervision of Mary Cummings, which was received by all present with the greatest delight. Mrs. Woods was presented with a beautiful bouquet by Mrs. C. R. Blake in appreciation of her services to the chapter.

Following is the program as presented:
Piano solo—Mrs. Fay. Skit—Entitled "Easy Terms" in which Mrs. Holbrook, Mrs. Chapin and Mrs. Jackson were the principals. Following the skit a vocal solo was rendered by Ruth Potts, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Potts.

Following the entertainment a supper was served by Helen Meyers, assisted by all the officers.

Marine Flyers On Way To War Front

with which America must compete for world trade in time of war.

Attention was called by Wood to loans made by the North German-Lloyd company of Bremen, the Cunard company of England and other foreign shipping companies. He continued:

"During the past summer another disarmament conference was held in Geneva. Because the United States had nothing further to offer no ships to dismantle, no construction work to cease, no further depletion of our national defense to appease the foreign nations participating, it resulted in a complete fiasco."

"And this in spite of the fact that England might have abandoned the further construction of additional cruisers, thus maintaining in greater degree the ratio agreed upon five years ago."

"During the past five years there have been laid down or appropriated for and built a total of about 300 naval vessels, and of these Japan is credited with 101, France 30, Italy 40, the British Empire 37, and the United States with only 19."

"Merchant vessels of 2,000 gross tons and over for the trans-oceanic service constructed for, built or building, out of a total of about 1,000 ships, the British Empire has 741, Italy 91, France 80, Japan 71, and the United States 18."

"FOX'S" FATHER BELIEVES SON TO BE INSANE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—While William Edward Hickman lay ill in the county jail here today, his father, Thomas Hickman, arrived from El Paso with the declaration:

"I am convinced that my son is insane."

The confessed kidnaper and slayer of 13-year-old Marion Parker was reported to be suffering from a headache, chills and fever after being subjected to a spinal fluid test by a defense specialist. The test was made in connection with the issue of insanity.

Hickman's father, although he undoubtedly will be called as a defense witness, declared he was here to testify for neither the state nor the defense, but only for the benefit of court and jury. He only wants to see justice done, he said.

"When I first heard of my son's connection with the Parker case," he stated, "I was torn in pieces and I said, 'let the law take its course.'"

"But after reading the details I came to the conclusion that no sane person could have acted that way."

Hickman is a railroad shopman, a sturdy built man of middle age. After his arrival he went to the office of Richard Cantillon, defense attorney, clad in a suit of worn appearance and with a day's stubble still upon his cheeks.

"I don't think my son, in his mental condition, should be hanged. Neither do I think that in his present state of mind he should be allowed back in the community," he declared.

The elder Hickman separated from his son's mother, Mrs. Eva Hickman of Kansas City, when young Hickman was ten years of age, he said. Five years ago he married again, and has two small children by his second wife.

"I never knew anything was wrong with my son until I read of this," he said, "I never even knew about his forgery trouble last summer."

He said he and his son had kept up a correspondence, and frequently he had sent the youth money.

A year ago last October I was working near Kansas City for about two months, and I saw my son on week-ends, although sometimes he wouldn't appear."

"He never told me much about himself. He never mentioned boy or girl intimates, if he had any. As far as work was concerned, he couldn't settle down. Sometimes he would talk about taking a business course sometimes he would talk about becoming a preacher."

"He changed jobs frequently. He worked at a cafe, as a grocer's delivery boy and on a truck. Nothing anyone said to him could get him settled for any length of time."

The elder Hickman said that William Edward was the youngest of four sons, the other child being a girl, Mary, now aged about 17.

William Edward, the father said, seemed to be his mother's pet, perhaps because he was the youngest boy.

"Until this thing came up none of my children had ever given me trouble," the father said.

"I don't want to see him hanged because I don't think he should be. Everything I have read indicates he is not sane. For instance, he doesn't seem to have laid any plans to get away. Then, when they caught him, he told everything. I read that the jail guards say he has been attempting to appear insane. A sane man, trying to fake insanity, could do a better job than that, I think."

Then, referring to the ransom of the Parker girl he said: "And if $1500 was all he wanted, to do a thing like that—"

The elder Hickman said he could recall no specific actions in the past life of his son that had impressed him as being especially out of the ordinary.

Except for intermittent meetings in Kansas City in October, 1926, he had seen the youth only for two weeks, in 1923, since the family separation, he said.

He could not recall the exact date of William Edward's birth.

Coolidge Enjoys Trip To Cuba

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Screaming sirens, booming guns and mighty cheers of the populace in Cuba's great demonstration left a lasting impression upon President Coolidge but he confessed today that the notable incident of his Havana visit was the twenty-mile auto tour from the Presidential Palace to the Machado, Finca.

On that trip, he roared through cross sections of the industrial Agrarian and residential life of Cuba and he told visitors today that he was overwhelmingly impressed by the tremendous progress made in her twenty-five years of self government.

President Coolidge was convinced that the spirit of good feeling demonstrated by the people, the Cuban government and the delegates to the Pan-American Congress leaves the conference in a splendid condition to do useful work.

SMALL SCORES REFUSING SEAT TO SEN. SMITH

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—The action of the United States senate in denying Senator-Elect Frank Smith his seat was a "dangerous attempt to nullify the rights of a sovereign state," Governor Len Small asserted today, at the same time announcing that he will refuse to recognize the action.

Governor Small severely condemned the senate in a statement which he issued over his signature today. He said in part:

"As Governor of Illinois, and in behalf of our people, I desire to express an unqualified resentment of the unwarranted assumption of authority by the United States senate in infringing on the rights of a free people to select a senator of their own choice."

"On behalf of Illinois, I cannot and will not recognize the action of the United States senate in declaring a vacancy exists in the representation of Illinois in the United States senate."

This attempted denial by the senate, in my judgment, is fraught with the most serious consequences to constitutional government that has arisen in the United States since the great Civil War.

The credentials of Frank L. Smith as United States senator from Illinois were bestowed on him by the people, who have entrusted him with the great responsibility of vindicating and protecting their equal rights as people of a free country.

"The action of the United States senate constitutes a dangerous attempt to nullify the rights of a sovereign state and the people thereof."

Mr. Small then recited the history of the Smith case and added: "When the senate by the adoption of a resolution prevented the senator-elect of Illinois from taking the oath and when yesterday it purported to declare a vacancy in the representation of Illinois in the senate of the United States, the senate completed its effort to nullify the guaranteed rights of a sovereign state, and offered an affront to the people of Illinois."

JUDGE BLAMES PARENTS FOR YOUTH CRIMES

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Liquor plus pleasure loving, indulgent, scoff-law parents are responsible for the many criminal cases of children, William V. Brothers, chief justice of the Criminal court said in an address here today.

"The youth of today," said the judge, "stand out as a most inspiring figures, active, vigorous and ready to undertake any task which appeals to their ambition, curiosity or vanity."

"In my years on the criminal bench I have found four main factors contributing to the condition which brings the average age of criminals before the bench down to 21 or 22 years and fills the police courts with boys and girls. These four are automobiles, movies, liquor and the newspapers' method of publishing crime news."

"Liquor, directly or indirectly, is back of perhaps 75 per cent of the cases. Many an exciting picture, in the movie theaters, has presented a problem in crime that some boy or girl in the audience secretly determines to outdo. Portrayed crime appeals to the youth's spirit of adventure."

"Yet all of these factors are useful and necessary things in a progressive civilization. The parents have failed to inspire their children to use them constructively. It is their misuse which cause trouble."

PETE MEYERS
WINS DECISION
OVER AZAVEDO

Pete Meyers, San Francisco fighter, took a ten round decision from Tony Azavedo, Newman fighter in the 150 pound main event last night at the El Cerrito Athletic club fight card. Meyers injured his hand in the third round of the bout, but fought his way one handed to a referee's decision over the slower Azavedo.

Joe Limas took a four round decision from Mickey Gibbons, Vallejo in the semi-windup. During the third round Limas landed a flush on Gibbons chin and scored a knockdown.

George Matti outslugged Wolf Emmitt for four rounds and scored a knockout in the last round of the bout. Manuel Vasquez of Berkeley sent "Charley" Aceto to the canvass in the first round of their bout and by consistent fighting throughout the following rounds earned the referee's decision.

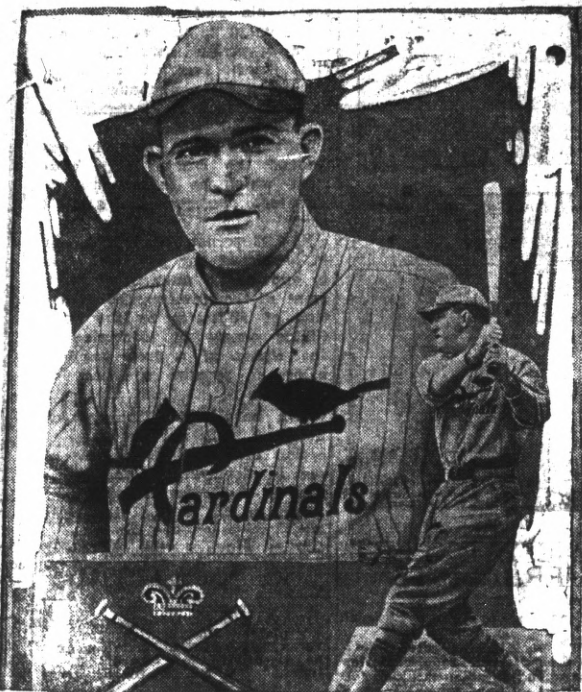

Ed Remy, San Francisco, beat Joe Viera to a referee's decision in a fast bout, while the curtain raiser lasted just long enough for Pete Marshall to kayo Newsboy Tom Smith in the first round.

Joe Rossi made his own match and picked the best program that has been offered to fight fans for many a month. Billy Brackett refereed in place of Benny Wagner, who was scheduled to be the third man in the ring, and carried the job off in fine style. Fans are looking forward for a card of as high calibre as the one presented last night with great anxiety.

LOOKS LIKE MICKY WALKER AND DELANEY

It would not be at all surprising if one of the big outdoor fights this summer would see Jack Delaney and Mickey Walker opposed to each other in Chicago.

You will recall that both Delaney and Mickey have cut away from the Tex Rickard banner, and it therefore behooves them to find some other promoter to work for. Mickey Walker, managed by Jack Kearns, who wants no part of Tex, will not sign with Rickard. Delaney believes that he has been given a runaround by the Garden officials although he says that Rickard did not give it to him.

It is here that Jim Mullins of Chicago steps into the picture. He has started building up both Mickey and Delaney in Chicago. Mickey's bulldup reached its high point when the Ramson, N. J., Irishman knocked off Mike McTigue in a round in Chicago. Mickey also beat Paul Berlenbach.

Jack Delaney, by stopping Paul Berlenbach in six rounds, also made a hit with Chicago fans.

A Delaney-Walker fight, outdoors in Chicago, looks like a natural, particularly as Chicago, minus a Rickard spectacle this spring, will be ready for another fisty attraction.

DELANEY PUTS HIS CASE UP TO FANS

Delaney, although discouraged at his inability to get a shot at Jack Sharkey, does not feel that his cause is hopeless. He still harbors a hope that Rickard will give him the chance he seeks.

However, the Beau Sabreur of the north country is not going to let any grass grow under his feet or "dogs."

Starting on Monday night, Delaney will prep himself with a series of bouts which should bring him to fighting peak. On Monday night Delaney fights Sully Montgomery, the former Center College football lineman, at the St. Nicholas Rink in New York City.

I think that no stronger proof of Delaney's sincerity can be found than in agreeing to fight in a small club. Evidently, when Jack says that he is no longer mainly concerned with dough, he is not trying to kid the world. The St. Nicholas Rink, with a seating capacity of 5,000, is not the spot where fortunes are made overnight.

The other day I had a long chat with the big French-Canadian, and this is what he had to say:

I have perhaps another year of real fighting in me, Ed, and I want to get a shot at the heavyweight title. It looks now as though I have been ruled off the track, but I still have hopes.

I'm not after the money right now. I have enough to take care of me for the rest of my life. I'm going to fight any place and for any purse to win a chance at Sharkey and those fellows. The fans always gave me a fair break and I hope they will stick with me now if I show anything.

THE "INSIDE" ON MALONEY FIGHT

"Well why are you ducking Risko, Jack?" I asked him. "The fans don't like that at all."

"Ducking Risko?" he repeated. "Don't make me laugh. I'm not ducking him, I will get my crack at the winner of the Sharkey-Heene fight."

"That is all I'm asking and I don't think that I am unreasonable. I have given the fans plenty of action in my fights, with the exception of one scrap, the fight with Maloney. I went through with that against the wishes of Pete Reilly and Doc Casey because I did not want to disappoint the FANS."

"My wife was dying at the time."

"After that fight I tried to get Maloney into a ring with me again, but he'd never even give me a tumble."

"In the last round of that fight I hit him in the stomach with a right hand and I could feel him caving in. Do you remember how his handlers rushed into the center of the ring and LED him back to his own corner at the bell?"

"They put their arms around him and CARRIED him back so nobody would see him stagger."

"That's why he would never give me a return fight after my wife got better and I was ready to go as I can go."

CLAP HANDS, HERE COMES CHARLIE!!!

Chatter on the Hornsby trade still goes on merrily.

It now begins to look like a carbon copy of the Kiki Cuyler-Bush-Dreyfus row at Pittsburgh.

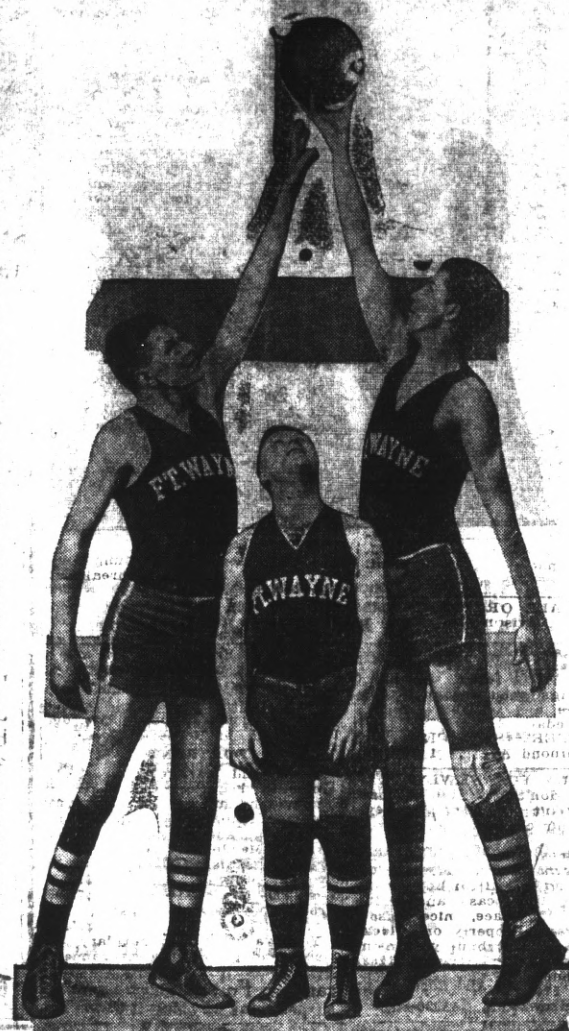

In that row it finally developed that Owner Dreyfus had attached the can to Cuyler and that Bush, the manager, had simply followed orders and had become the goat.

So it is with Hornsby case.

It now looks as though Owner Stoneham, of the Giants, respecting a tie-up between McGraw and Hornsby, had fired Hornsby to prevent any dangerous alliances between the men under him.

Stoneham has never forgotten that the National League wants to throw him out of the circuit.

The Long And Short Of It

THE FORT WAYNE, IND., basketball team is touring the country meeting teams of the United States. The Mid-Western ball tossers are a study in conflicting sizes and shapes. From left to right are: Shag Chadwick, who stretches the tape to 6 feet 2 inches; Benny Borgeman, the little fellow and captain just a wee 5 feet 4 inches in height; and Slim Shous, former Kentucky college star, who towers 6 feet 10 inches with his shoes off.

Neil Fights In Gun Club Smoker

Exhibiting his ability which won him the world bantamweight championship in 1923, Frankie Neil boxed a four round exhibition with C. Bertone, Richmond featherweight at the Standard Oil Rod and Gun Club.

Fighters met and defeated Frankie Neil were Abe Atall, Harry Forbes, and Eddie Hanton. But Joe Bowker defeated him in London in 1924.

The main event was the fight between Jack Hill of Kansas and Johnny Murphy of Denver. These Hanrahan and Al Hutton, Bill McManis versus Bill Spencer and Mickey Brown versus Charlie Aceto furnished the remainder of the boxing program.

JURORS ADMIT SUIT BY LOT, RETRIAL ASKED

MARTINEZ, Jan. 20. — Admission by all twelve members of the jury that they arrived at their verdict of $1500 damages given Mrs. Frances Hunt of Richmond in her $50,000 suit against James Sedarek and Joseph Sedarek, through medium of a form of lottery, form the basis for a demand for a new trial of the suit filed in Judge H. V. Alvarado's court late last night and which will be argued in court next Thursday.

According to James F. Hoey, attorney for Walker and Sedarek and associated with J. Hampton Hoey, the jurors, unable to decide on the amount that should be given Mrs. Hunt, agreed in the privacy of the jury room that each of the twelve should write on a slip of paper, that the total thus written down should be obtained and divided by twelve and that the average thus arrived at should be the sum which the jury would award Mrs. Hunt. The average was approximately $1500.

This method of arriving at a verdict and damages award constituted a form of lottery, according to defense attorneys who in the event their motion for a new trial is denied, will appeal the case to the higher court.

Mrs. Hunt was injured when her car collided at 31st and Barrett avenues in Richmond on September 30 last with Walker's machine driven by Sedarek. Armed with the affidavits of two of the jurors that the $1500 award was determined in the above manner, Hoey obtained from all of the remaining ten jurors the sworn admissions that such was the method and these affidavits were filed late night in substantiation of the motion for a new trial.

The jurors were: Charles K. Parker, foreman; Ben Zolfo, H. Vidal, George T. Lewis, B. R. Egan, Eugene H. Axtell, E. G. Milligan, George E. McDonald, Edna G. Barnes, J. L. Barnham, B. Y. Shideler and Andrew Murphy.

Restrictions Limit President's Choice

(By Universal Service) — The business of tying his hands in picking appointees for public jobs is getting irksome to President Coolidge. He wants a new radio commissioner to fill the vacancy existing several months but finds that Congress provided in the Radio law that the appointee must not be associated with the radio business and must come from the territory bounded by Pennsylvania, Virginia and Kentucky.

He has several good men in mind but they are ineligible because of these restrictions. President Coolidge today informed visitors he is thoroughly convinced that the public service suffers whenever Congress surrounds the appointing power of the President with restrictions.

Severe Penalties Sought For Prohibition Offences

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. — De-adopted Congress was more or less liberal in the penalties, realizing that it was a new law and the people ought to become familiar with it. But now every one knows about the Volstead law and the penalties should be made more severe.

Appearing before a subcommittee of the House Judiciary committee, she endorsed the Stalker bill, which would provide a maximum fine of $10,000 or five years imprisonment, or both, for violators of Volsteadism.

First offense under the Volstead law call for a maximum penalty of $1000 or six months in jail, or both, and this has not been adequate, according to Mrs. Willenbrandt.

When the Government suspects a person of carrying on a bootlegging operation, it must turn to the laws against conspiracy to give him a proper penalty, she said. Often the government is unable to prove conspiracy and the bootlegger goes free, whereas he could have been easily convicted under the Volstead law.

The hands of the courts are tied at present by large numbers of arrested bootleggers, she said.

The maximum fine and imprisonment provided in the Stalker bill enables the judges to limit these sentences commensurate with the offense. It is limited directly to the bootlegging of the judge (black letter).

Rep. Stalker (R) of New York, who filed the bill, said: "When the prohibition law was

Solomon Outdone By Judge Seeking Dog's Ownership

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Jan. 20. — Judge Levi M. Hall went to extraordinary measures to determine the ownership of a Scotch Collie in a case heard here today, and he achieved his purpose.

W. E. Brown and his family brought a complaint against J. A. Freeman. Charging that the latter was not the owner of the dog, Freeman had the dog on a leash in court.

Judge Hall summoned R. H. Dubbert, veterinarian, who said he could determine the ownership of the pet, but that he would have to place a foot of the dog on a chair, he pressed his foot on the paw. The dog yelled and ran to Clara Brown, daughter of Mr. Brown.

"Any veterinarian will tell you that when a pet is hurt," said Mr. Dubbert, "it always seeks the companionship of one he loves best."

Judge Hall agreed, and turned the animal over to Mr. Brown.
